Get it right from the start

A good start to catheterization is vital for many reasons. Your bladder function affects your well-being, not only in the beginning but in the long-run too. Therefore, the choice of catheter matters, as does the knowledge and support along the road.

Within time, self catheterization will be a natural part of your daily life. Self catheterization closely mimics the natural way and puts you in control.

Working with catheters for over 30 years, where we have met thousands of users, we are confident in our cause.

LoFric® Sense™ was developed with the help of healthcare professionals and hundreds of women practicing self catheterization. It is designed to address both your medical and lifestyle needs. It should be easy to carry and use anywhere – without ever making concessions to health and safety.

The Sense mirror

We know that besides a catheter that is safe, discreet and easy to handle, good support is the key to a good start in CIC.

As a new female user, you have one major challenge when starting catheterizing – to find the urethra. Our Sense Mirror might be the help needed for a good start.

1. Clean the mirror with water and mild detergent before catheterization. Dry thoroughly.
2. Place the mirror on your thigh.
3. Adjust the mirror for the best visibility.

The mirror comes with a discreet bag for easy storage

Great for long-term use

We believe urethral health and staying free from infections is crucial for a good life, therefore LoFric catheters are designed to maintain good urethral health in the long run.

To think long-term is important. Complications like urethral trauma, strictures and urinary tract infections (UTI) might not be noticeable from the very beginning. For a long-term urethral health, make sure to choose the right catheter – right from the start.

LoFric reduces the risk of both pain and damage...

LoFric catheters are coated with our unique Urotonic™ Surface Technology, which means that LoFric's surface has the same properties as your urethra – the salt concentration is the same as in urine. This ensures that the catheter remains smooth, comfortable and safe, both during insertion and withdrawal.

...and it is scientifically proven

LoFric are the only catheters proven in multiple studies to be safe for long-term use.
